Title: Machine tool demand expands digital scale sales

Abstract: Demand for digital scales has been expanding rapidly in the last few years mainly for utilization with various kinds of machine tools. These scales are now regarded as 'indispensable equipment' by machine tool users, and the performance of these products has also attained high levels. Because of this, sales competition has intensified. It also seems that the demand for machine tools is also intensifying competition. In addition to OEM (production with distributor brands) sales, an increase in demand for scales that are mounted on existing machinery and equipment is also conspicuous, and it can be said that the digital scale market and trade are facing new challenges.
